

Project REGIOCLIMA –
A call for proposals for a climate-change related work

Dear Sir/Madam,

This is an announcement that Estonian Marine Institute as one of the partners of the European Union funded INTERRE IVC program's RegioClima project, is calling for external experts to send their proposals and show initiative to take part in the project as an external expert.

Work description:

We have detected a need for additional work after compiling the Northern European climate change adaptation strategy report. The work foresees the coordination of the Northern European adaptation strategy report with Southern and Central European strategy reports, following the suggestions of the Lead Partner of Regioclima and working together with experts of the same field from Central and Southern European regions.

Requirements for the external expert:

The external expert we are looking for should definitely have international experience in climate change adaptation related work, good communications skills and a solid work ethic. Since there is a time-pressure to finish the elaboration of the reports, the most important requirement for the appropriate external expert is that he/she would have previous experience in elaborating Northern European climate change adaptation strategy reports.

We can accept proposals before making any decisions up to the evening of January 14th, 2011. We are looking to make a written contract for the work with the winning party.

We kindly ask you to send all proposals and questions to Maret Saat (project manager) on the following e-mail: maret.saat@ut.ee

Best wishes,

Maret Saat
